Union Depot is Restored Back to Life

By Patricia Johnson

"We're bringing the Union Depot back to life so the next generation can enjoy it," says Mortenson Construction Superintendent Glenn VanHeel. "It's very exciting."

Located in downtown St. Paul near the Mississippi River, the Union Depot Multi-Modal Transit Center represents the next stage in the St. Paul-Minneapolis region's transportation future, according to the Ramsey County Web site. The depot is the St. Paul termination point to its sister modal station located in downtown Minneapolis. The Central Corridor Light Rail Transit project is currently under construction; an 11-mile span of light rail system which will connect the two.

The Union Depot restoration and reconstruction project is estimated at $243 million which includes federal funding of approximately $143 million.

The first St. Paul Union Depot was destroyed by fire in 1915. Reconstruction of the current building was completed in 1923, and in 1974 it was added to the National Register of Historic Places.

Special Call Wage Allocation Meetings

The Local Union will be holding Special Call Wage Allocation meetings throughout our jurisdiction during the first few months of 2012. These wage allocations are for nearly all crafts and all locations. We will discuss the funding of the Local Union Pension and Health Fund. Any increases to these Funds must be made evenly to all crafts and areas. The International Pension Fund (IPF) has adopted a new schedule for funding benefits. The increases will start in 2013.

Health Reimbursement Arrangement (HRA) contribution increases will be up for discussion for each craft and area. We are able to have different HRA contribution rates for each contract area. Vacation Fund and Annuity Fund contributions can also be different for each craft and area.

The president's column in the June 2011 newsletter laid out a plan for the International Masonry Institute (IMI) funding. We are still sticking by that plan. The International Union has mandated 1 percent of the negotiated wage package funding for all crafts and jurisdictional areas starting May 1, 2013. Our plan is for each area to get halfway to that 1 percent mandatory contribution rate from where they are right now. Some of this extra IMI funding will come directly back to help out our apprenticeship and journeyman training programs. This will allow us to not have to ask for an increase in contributions to the apprenticeship fund. This IMI increase will also help us fund the Structural Masonry Coalition. This is an initiative to bring in a team of engineers that work for us and have them work with the structural engineers that design in this area. This team will guide the local engineers, with new software and designing methods, to make it easier for them to specify structural masonry. This process has worked in many areas around the country. Many other areas, such as ours, are currently starting this coalition initiative and we are banking on its success based on the results from other parts of the country.

With any medical decision, you want the best quality care at a price you can afford. Here are a few reasons why your Health Fund chose Center for Diagnostic Imaging (CDI) as their preferred imaging partner. With CDI, you and your family get the highest-quality imaging services, specialized radiologists to interpret your exam, and everyone saves money!

CDI services include MRI, CT, ultrasound, x-ray, mammography or injections to diagnose or treat back and joint pain and more.

With CDI, you and your family receive:

- Cost – CDI services cost on average 30-50 percent less than similar hospital-affiliated services. But the best part is that by choosing CDI your health fund is willing to pay your claim at 100 percent, if you choose another imaging provider you will pay out of your pocket 20 percent of that more expensive exam. What does that really mean? Well the average price for an MRI is $1,000; if you choose CDI you pay $0.00. If you choose another provider you pay $200. Some exams can cost even more so make sure you make the right choice and choose CDI.

- High Quality Imaging – Superior imaging technology and physician and staff expertise that ensures you and your family receives the right exam, at the right time, done right. All CDI locations are accredited by the American College of Radiology, representing the highest standards for quality outpatient imaging.
- Physician Expertise – Board-certified radiologists (medical doctors who specialize in medical imaging) have advanced training in specialty areas like neuro (head), body, breast and musculoskeletal (bones and joints) imaging, and more. For us, it means a more accurate diagnosis the first time!
- Convenience – CDI has 20 centers throughout Minnesota – in the Twin Cities, St. Cloud, Alexandria, Willmar and Duluth – and offers the convenience of a quickly scheduled exam, on-time appointments, and quick results back to your doctor.
- Patient-centered care – CDI's staff will guide you or your family members through the entire exam process and answer any questions you may have.

“First and foremost, we want to preserve the historic integrity of the structure,” VanHeel says. “This place was full of hustle and bustle with people and trains in the 1920s. The concourse area is a very unique piece of architecture in light of the time period it was built. You don’t see this type of old stone work anymore. The arched plaster ceilings, the old steel windows, the glass. It’s all being restored. The brick and stone piers and walls, all the details that show the horse drawn carriages, oxen and cart.”

Knowing it was going to be a difficult job with detailing, they have the “cream of the crop” working on the masonry. Workers were field tested to qualify to do the distinctive, intricate work which requires upgrades to the structure while retaining its historical craftsmanship.

Bill Dentinger of B & D Masonry, St. Paul, says his crew of about eight is setting Indiana limestone, in particular archways that are over the front entrance, building rooms and entrance ways on the train deck waiting area. They’ll be completed for the most part by the end of December. “It’s a neat little building. It’s a tough thing to do though; work on a 100-year-old building using new construction detail and methods.”

Dustin Sly, project manager for American Masonry Restoration, Fridley, Minn., has about 10 members working on the job site. Their tasks include interior and exterior building cleaning, repointing brick and stone masonry joints, resetting and replacing stone, and marble and terracotta repair and replacement.

“We’ve worked on historic buildings before, but to work on such a large structure with 20 other trades is extremely unusual,” Sly says. “Our project covers approximately 120,000 square feet. It cleans up pretty well. It just takes a little bit of testing to find the right product.” The job was detailed well from the start so they haven’t encountered many surprises. He expects his crew to be on the job site through August 2012.

Joe Becker, VP of the stone division at Twin City Tile and Marble (TCTM) in St. Paul, Minn., has a crew of about seven on site. They are refinishing the Tennessee marble floors and installing new Tennessee marble steps, base and floors. Tasks also include refinishing the existing granite steps and platforms and installing new granite paving. Terrazzo work includes new and refinished with new terrazzo tiling. “It’s quite a large scope of work,” Becker says. “It’s a challenge because of the number of trades and the amount of paperwork stemming from state and federal financial involvement.” Because the structure is an existing building, versus new construction, there are many more people on sight, too. Mock ups were completed before work began to set realistic expectations. “The architects have been real good to work with,” he says. “They understand a 100-year old building won’t look brand new.” TCTM should be done by the end of August 2012.

Adam Bauchle, project manager and estimator for Carciofini Company, Burnsville, Minn., has about three crew members working on masonry block and stonework, architectural precast, expansion joints, traffic coatings, and the granite stairs and all caulking. “It’s been an interesting project because you’re dealing with all existing conditions,” he says. “There have been no surprises and it will look pretty cool when it’s done.” The crew should be done by early summer 2012.

In terms of safety, Mortenson continues to hold fast to a strong safety culture, including stretching exercises every morning, plan-of-the-day meetings at 6:30 a.m. and worker orientation and reorientation.

The redevelopment of the Union Depot will be complete by the end of 2012 and the Central Corridor Light Rail Transit will open for service in 2014.

Minnesota Wants to Work Week of Action

Unemployed workers speak out at meeting with Dayton Administration

By Steve Share, Minneapolis Labor Review Editor

As part of a national week of action, the Minnesota Wants to Work campaign organized a roundtable discussion bringing unemployed administration.

About 40 people attended the roundtable, which took place October 13 at the International Union of Operating Engineers Local 49 hall. Attendees included unemployed union members as well as unemployed members of Working America, the community affiliate of the AFL-CIO.

John Herman, Champlin, Minn., a member of BAC Local 1 MN/ND, compared the current economic downturn with past downturns: “I’ve been a bricklayer for 20 years. Back in the 1980s, it was very bad. The 1990s were difficult. This is downright miserable.”

Department of Employment and Economic Development Commissioner Mark Phillips and Dayton Chief of Staff Tina Smith promised to share what they learned at the roundtable with Governor Dayton.

BAC Disaster Relief Fund

The executive officers recently received the following letter from Executive Vice President Gerard Scarano, BAC Disaster Relief Fund. The local Union management committee has made a donation on behalf of the entire membership of BAC Local Union 1 MN/ND.

To see if you are eligible for Fund assistance, please contact me directly. Thank you.

Mike Cook, president

Since it was established following Hurricane Katrina in 2005, the BAC Disaster Relief Fund has been a welcome relief of financial assistance for BAC members affected by natural and other disasters. The fund has been supported over the years by personal contributions from the members of the IU Executive Board, BAC Local officers, members and signatory contractors, and grants from the IU and Local Unions and ADCs.

In light of the extensive flooding and damage produced recently by Hurricane Irene and its tropical storm the IU has reached out to members via our Web site and Facebook to inform them that the relief fund is available to help those affected.

Due to Irene's massive path, in order to ensure that there are adequate resources to help all those in need, the IU executive board met last month to address this topic. Each board member agreed to make a substantial personal donation to the fund, and we also voted to increase the IU's financial support of the fund. Additional donations were also made by members of the executive council at the recent meeting in Providence, RI.

On behalf of the IU executive board, I want to urge you and your fellow officers and field staff to consider donating generously to the fund if you have not already done so, and to share this information with signatory contractors.

If any BAC member would like further details on making a tax deductible contribution to the fund, they can contact me at gscarano@bacweb.org or 202-383-3189.

I want to emphasize that the relief fund is a stand-alone legal entity and donations are tax deductible. Donations are accepted from BAC members as well as others.

Many thanks in advance for your members' requests for assistance and for your support, past and present, to the BAC Disaster Relief Fund.

The mailing address for donations is:

BAC Disaster Relief Fund
ATTN: Gerard Scarano, IU Executive Vice President
620 F Street, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20004

Members should contact me, I contact the International. Members or anyone else can make contributions. The Local Union Management Committee has made a donation on behalf of the entire membership of BAC Local Union 1 MN/ND.

We have had some reports of job trailers and gang boxes that have been broken into lately. Some of our contracts have a $300 maximum reimbursement for tools. Some have nothing. It doesn't take many tools to reach the $300 threshold. Some employers will help members turn this loss into the companies insurance if the theft occurs from the job site. It is advisable to a keep a list of all your tools with a description and purchase price. Pictures can also be a big help. While this can be cumbersome, it is the only way to accurately account for all of your tools whether the theft occurs at work or at home or from your vehicle. Keep your tools locked up.

GOVERNMENT

POLITICS – Our Issues

A Tough Legislative Session Ahead

By Shar Knutson,
President of the Minnesota AFL-CIO

The 2012 session of the Minnesota Legislature kicks off on January 24. Minnesota's policymakers will have much to address. There will quite possibly be another budget deficit and there is still much the state can do to help create jobs.

In 2011, the Legislature and the governor decided to balance the state budget with spending cuts and borrowing money. Governor Dayton favored balancing the budget with some cuts and increasing taxes on the very rich. Unfortunately, Republicans refused to compromise. The state was left with a flawed budget agreement that cuts vital services and forces local property taxes to increase on the middle class.

If the state budget is back in the red, it is our hope that our policymakers will finally take a step toward making taxes fair, instead of simply putting more burdens on the backs of middle class families.

Additionally, our state's job situation has not improved much. Unemployment has hit Minnesotans hard, especially in the building and construction trades. The $500 million jobs and infrastructure bill passed in July was an important start. However, there is still much to be done in improving and maintaining our state's infrastructure. When people are working, they are spending money in the community and helping to create more jobs.

Finally, we must be mindful of attacks on our workplace rights. From Wisconsin, to Michigan, and Ohio, extremist lawmakers have passed laws that attack our basic right to organize and bargain collectively for fair wages and benefits. We are expecting a number of attacks in 2012. To stay updated, please sign up for electronic updates by visiting www.mnafcio.org and clicking on "Stay Informed."
